Insight

The BA in social science is designed for students who have a broad interest in the behavioral and social sciences. It is an interdisciplinary program with a curriculum from the disciplines and programs of the College of the Behavioral and Social Sciences and the Department of History.

The program has two options to best meet the needs of our students: multidisciplinary studies and specialization studies. Both options are available to distance education students who do not reside in Chico.

Experience

The Bachelor of Arts in Social Science, Option in Multidisciplinary Studies is a 45-unit major with representative courses from the disciplines within the social sciences and history. Its primary intent is to give students a solid liberal arts grounding in the social sciences. This option also provides a waiver for the single subject matter competency requirement and CSET exam in social science for those pursuing secondary teacher preparation programs.

The Bachelor of Arts in Social Science, Option in Specialization Studies allows students to focus on two disciplines, or areas of concentration, offered by the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences and the Department of History. Many of our students plan to apply these concentrations in specialized fields such as social and vocational services. There are 21 areas of concentration from which to choose: alternative dispute resolution, anthropology, Asia, California studies, career and life planning, child development, economics, environmental planning, environmental studies, family relations, geography, gerontology, health and human services, health science, history, international relations, multicultural and gender studies, political science, psychology, public administration, and sociology.

The Career and Life Planning Certificate Program offers a training developed by the National Career Development Association (NCDA). To earn the Career and Life Planning Certificate, the three required courses may be taken either online or on campus. Professionals who earn the NCDA's Career Development Facilitator certificate work in a variety of career development settings. They may serve as career group facilitators, job search trainers, career resource center coordinators, career coaches, career development case managers, intake interviewers, occupational and labor market information resource persons, human resource career development coordinators, employment/placement specialists, workforce development staff persons, or school career center technicians. This unique program may be of interest to students who major in social science, sociology, psychology, social welfare, education, and human resources.

Outlook

Social science graduates are in demand for a variety of professions. Graduates are employed in public education, career centers, human
SOC 210  Data Interpretation and Communication for the Social Sciences  3 Units
Prerequisite: Completion of GE Pathway Foundation Quantitative Reasoning.
Typically Offered: Fall and spring
This course provides an introduction to research and analytic tools needed to meet the demands of social science practice. Students will manipulate, visualize, and interpret statistical and spatial data to strengthen their data analytic reasoning. This course also examines bias in the presentations of social science information by reviewing demographic, cultural, and spatial data sources. 3 hours seminar. (009054)

SOSC 510 Testing and Measurements for Career Assessment and Guidance 3 Units
Prerequisite: SOSC 509.
Typically Offered: Spring only
This is a course in career assessment. Students will explore the foundational issues in psychometrics, including the nature and uses of paper and online tests, ethical considerations, and concerns in test administration. Students administer assessments such as the Myers Briggs, Strong Vocational Interest Inventory, Barriers to Employment Success, Offender Reintegration Inventory, Military to Career, The COP System, and various Holland assessments. Classes of vocational assessments and their exemplars will be presented. Assessment batteries for special needs clients will also be examined. Students will consider issues which are of specific concern when using formal assessment tools in decision making in career interventions. Interpretations of specific instruments and the relationship of formal assessments to other modes of information gathering will be discussed. 3 hours lecture. (009074)
