Insight

Kinesiology is an integrative discipline that promotes lifelong learning and participation in human movement to enhance quality for all through sport, exercise, and physical activity. The Department of Kinesiology offers innovative and engaging instruction, scholarship, and professional service through its three degree programs: a BS in exercise physiology, a BA in kinesiology, and an MA in kinesiology.

These programs are especially fulfilling for students who have a passion for helping others and who are interested in promoting physical activity and its impact on health, wellness, society, and quality of life. Students study human movement and how the body can function efficiently in a wide variety of settings—everywhere from athletic fields, school, hospitals, rehabilitation centers, or research labs.

Coursework focus on several areas of emphasis such as exercise physiology, sport and exercise psychology, physical education teacher education, adapted physical education, coaching, strength and conditioning, biomechanics, and pre-professional training for allied health (e.g., physical therapy, occupational therapy, physician assistant, nursing, and medicine).

Experience

Aside from access to the Northern California outdoors, dedicated oncampus space inside Yolo Hall includes laboratories for adapted physical education, athletic training, biomechanics, exercise physiology, strength and conditioning, motor behavior, and pedagogy. Other instructional facilities include dance studios, a climbing wall, a ropes course, two gymnasiums, tennis courts, outdoor track, weight training/fitness rooms, golf, soccer, and multipurpose fields.

Students participate in service learning and internship experiences to prepare them for future work in a variety of movement related professions. Many of our students engage with the Adapted Physical Education Program which serves over 150 community members through two service learning programs, BE:WEL and the Autism Clinic. These programs, particularly the Autism Clinic, continue to broaden students' community and campus impact through neurodiversity initiatives, expanding existing student support services, and grant and research work.

Connections with peers and professionals happen through a variety of student clubs including: Exercise Physiology Club, Physical Education/ Adapted Physical Education Teacher Education Club, and Strength and Conditioning Club. These clubs support and prepare students for future careers by creating connections, developing leadership skills, interacting with health-care and fitness professionals, and learning how to become knowledgeable candidates for future careers and graduate school.

Outlook

The BA in kinesiology prepares students to teach, coach, and have administrative careers as well as leadership positions in their communities. They become professionals in the fields of physical education, coaching, personal training, fitness and wellness, and adapted physical activity. California State University, Chico physical education and adapted physical education teachers are in high demand and get jobs!

One of the primary goals of the BS in exercise physiology is to prepare students for graduate education in a variety of allied health professions (e.g., physical therapy, occupational therapy, physician assistant, respiratory therapist, corporate fitness nursing, etc.).

Graduates of the master's program fill the need for teachers, coaches, health professionals, and community recreation leaders. Recent graduates have gone on to medical schools, physician assistant programs, physical therapy programs, occupational health programs, and prestigious PhD granting universities.

KINE 599H Physical Education Honors Senior Research

Prerequisite: For Honors students only, who have completed 9 upperdivision units in physical education courses. Permission of Honors advisor required, faculty permission. Typically Offered: Inquire at department

An intensive senior year, two-semester culminating experience taken as two 3-unit classes in consecutive semesters. Project outline and research first semester. Honors paper or project is prepared during second semester. High level of academic excellence is required. The paper or project must be approved by the department's Honor Advisor, the Department Chair, and the University Honors Director. The paper or project must be publicly presented. 3 hours seminar. (007036)

Grade Basis: Graded

3 Units

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 6 units

Course Attributes: Upper Division

KINE 600 Seminar in Kinesiology 3 Units

Typically Offered: Fall only

A course designed to investigate the relationship between the various facets of the discipline of kinesiology, including philosophy, history, psychology, sociology, exercise physiology, perceptual-motor learning, biomechanics, athletic training, and pedagogy. 3 hours

seminar. (007037)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 601 Statistical Methods in Kinesiology Research 3 Units

Typically Offered: Fall only

Study of the descriptive and inferential statistics commonly used in kinesiology research. Emphasis is on learning concepts critical to reading research and using statistical computer programs with kinesiology data.

3 hours seminar. (007038) Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 602 Research Design in Kinesiology 3 Units

Prerequisite: KINE 600.

Typically Offered: Spring only

Students learn to recognize the strengths and limitations of research approaches used in the field of Kinesiology and develop coherent alignments between research questions and methods. Students explore a variety of research methods, including descriptive, experimental, and qualitative methods. Students also learn to identify the strengths and weaknesses of sample selection and group assignment methods. 3 hours

seminar. (015962)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 605 Sociological and Cultural Perspectives in Physical Education 3 Units

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

An in-depth study of the theories of the origin of physical education; evaluation and assessment of findings as they relate to today's discipline.

3 hours seminar. (007040) Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 606 Sport Psychology

Typically Offered: Fall and spring

Evaluation of research and practices in sport psychology relating to cognitive and behavioral aspects of individuals and groups related to sport and exercise. Topics include areas of motivation, personality, team dynamics, and mental and behavioral strategies used to enhance performance. 3 hours seminar. (015961)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 611 Administration of Sport and Exercise Programs 3 Units Typically Offered: Fall only

This course provides students with an understanding of the issues involved in being an administrator of a sport and/or exercise program. Topics include theories of management, legal issues (including liability), staffing, and budgeting. Students gain experience by managing an event during the semester. 3 hours seminar. (007043)

Grade Basis: ABC/No Credit

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 613 Research in Coaching Science 3 Units

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

This course provides students with an overview of the research in coaching science, including psychological, mental, methodological, and educational aspects of sport coaching. This course considers the many facets of sport coaching from a scholarly perspective. However, student consider how the theoretical, scholarly, and practical aspects of coaching intersect. The course is designed for graduate students in kinesiology (e.g., biomechanics, exercise physiology, physical education, movement studies) who are interested in pursuing a coaching career or who may interact with coaches in any capacity. 3 hours seminar. (021970)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 617 Fieldwork in Adapted Physical Education 3 Units

Typically Offered: Fall and spring

Fieldwork with children in an adapted physical education setting. Involves assessing, diagnosing, and implementing individualized educational programs to meet the needs of individuals with disabilities. May include either teaching or coaching experiences. 9 hours supervision. (006999)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 621 Research on Teaching and Learning in Physical Education 3 Units

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

This course helps graduate students analyze, synthesize, and evaluate the research on teaching and learning in physical education. Content includes systematic observation, qualitative studies, curriculum theory/design, and the enhancement of student learning K-12. 3 hours seminar. (007045)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 624 Biomechanical Analysis

3 Units

3 Units

Prerequisite: KINE 322 and basic computer literacy, faculty permission.

Typically Offered: Fall only

Introduction to research in biomechanics. Emphasis is on quantitative videographic techniques of sport and exercise activities. Other technological and bibliographic research methods are covered. 3 hours

seminar. (015556)

3 Units

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 625 Seminar in Biomechanics of Sports Techniques 3 Units

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

An in-depth analysis of the literature concerning the biomechanical analysis of selected sports techniques. 3 hours seminar. (007047)

Grade Basis: ABC/No Credit

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 6 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 661 Current Trends and Problems in Physical Education 3 Units

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

Trends in physical education, instructional practices, and administration of physical education. Review of current literature in physical education.

3 hours lecture. (007053) Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 679 Advanced Exercise Physiology 3 Units

Prerequisite: KINE 602, faculty permission.

Typically Offered: Fall only

Immediate and long-range adaptations of the body to exercise. Physiological limits and work capacities in relation to age, sex, diet, environmental factors, and the nature of activity. 3 hours

seminar. (007039)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 681 Exercise Management - Chronic Disease and Disabilities

Prerequisite: KINE 322, KINE 323, KINE 480, and faculty permission.

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

This seminar is for students and health professionals who desire an in-depth discussion of the role of physical exercise as a medically recognized modality in conjunction with chronic disease and disabilities. This class is designed for all people who are currently working within the medical profession and for those students who are preparing for future careers in paramedical vocational fields. This course will present the most recent research and publications available for the exercise physiology working with individuals who suffer from chronic disease and existing physical disabilities. 3 hours seminar. (007057)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 682 Exercise Cardiology

3 Units

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

This seminar course is for students and health professionals who desire an in-depth discussion of cardiology as it relates to exercise physiology. Exercise viewed both in terms of minimizing risk factors and as a cardiac stressor. The role of physical exercise in generating risk, such as excessive free radicals and potassium, and as a cardiac trigger, as in sudden death and heart attack, are explored. Cardiac rehabilitation will be related to exercise prescription. This course considers the most recent research and publications available for exercise physiologists in working with individuals who experience cardiac disease. 3 hours seminar. (007058)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 683 Bioenergetics

3 Units

Typically Offered: Inquire at department

Cellular and molecular adaptations of muscle to exercise and training. How cellular events effect whole body physiology during exercise. 3

hours seminar. (007026) Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 689 Practicum in Athletic Training Education 3 Units

Prerequisite: Admission to the Athletic Training Education Option or faculty permission.

Typically Offered: Fall and spring

This seminar style course gives a platform on which to discuss the experiences at students' assigned clinic sites. Students are responsible for providing case studies each week from their clinical assignments and interact with peers in solving problems with difficult cases or situations. Students are presented with new or varying treatments and assess protocols or possible rehabilitation programs that may be applicable to the case studies. 3 hours seminar. (007059)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 6 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 697 Independent Study

1-3 Units

3 Units

Typically Offered: Fall and spring

This course is a graduate-level independent study offered for 1.0-3.0 units. You must register directly with a supervising faculty member. 9 hours supervision. (007062)

Grade Basis: Report in Progress: Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 6 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 697P Professional Paper

Prerequisite: Approval of Advisor and graduate coordinator.

Typically Offered: Fall and spring

This course is a graduate-level independent study with the objective of submitting an article for publication. Students must register directly with a supervising faculty member. 9 hours independent study. (022221)

Grade Basis: Graduate Graded

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 699P Master's Project

Prerequisite: Department Permission.

Typically Offered: Fall and spring

You must register directly with a supervising faculty member. The project is the culminating graduate experience in which you can enroll in lieu of the thesis where the end result is a tangible product. Examples might include facilities planning, compilation of data, construction of a course of study, construction of teaching aids, publication of manuals, or producing a dance production. In each example there will be a written component intended to describe the process, the end result, and the candidate's competence in descriptive writing. 3 hours independent study. (007068)

Grade Basis: Report in Progress: CR/NC

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 3 units

Course Attributes: Graduate Division

KINE 699T Master's Thesis 1-6 Units

Prerequisite: Department Permission. Typically Offered: Fall and spring

You must register directly with a supervising faculty member. 0 hours independent study. (007066)

Grade Basis: Report in Progress: CR/NC

Repeatability: You may take this course for a maximum of 6 units
